SCHOOL SONG

Onward we march together;
Faithful may we ever be,
No thought of time or weather,
Hearts filled with hope and ecstacy;
Bravely we fight our battles;
Happily we'll meet success,
But the things for which we strive
Are honor and happiness.

Hep! Hep! Hep!
Three cheers for our old High,—Voices ring
Hep! Hep! Hep!
Just see her colors fly—while we sing,
Forward march, let this our motto be, Victory—
Through all kinds of weather,
We will jog along together,
True and loyal we shall ever be.
Rah! Rah!

"Climb, Though The Rocks Be Rugged"

The first great page of our book has been turned;
The next one is yet to be earned.
So set out in the beginning on the right foot and make it a perfect sheet;
Never step back, but always go forward and stand on both feet.
Our future will constantly be reflecting back on our past;
Let's hope what we have learned will be a foundation to last.
For what we have learned we have our teachers to thank;
They have put forth great effort and deserve a very high rank.
These past years with our instructors have had love, happiness, and sorrow;
Let's salute our teachers today and always be thinking of them on the marrow.
There will be many trying days ahead,
Through which each of us our ways must tread.
Always strive for the highest, taking nothing but the best,
And we shall find ourselves to be tops o'er all the rest.
Always go along with the goodly kind,
Keeping ever our motto in mind.

DON'T LOOK BUT . . .

The class of 1951 is graduating. Some of us thought that we would never see this day.

As junior high students we thought we were grown up just because we were in the high school building. We didn't realize that you had to act as grown-ups do before you were one.

We have lost old members and gained new ones during these years. As freshmen we were a happy-go-lucky bunch, never having a care in the world.

When we got to be sophomores, we began taking things more seriously and acting like high school students.

Then our junior year rolled around. First came the choosing of class rings, and after that we began selling magazines to finance our Junior-Senior Banquet. Our junior play, "The Red-headed Stepchild," was a big success. Class officers were Joan Harrelson, president; Charles Black, vice-president; Teddy Robinson, secretary; George Parker, treasurer.

Five classmates who were with us as juniors did not return to complete the senior year which rolled in with a bang on September 6, 1950. Forty seniors commenced planning for a school year filled with activities.

We began working on our annual immediately and hope to prepare Cherryville High School's best "Chenoca."

We want to thank the juniors for the lovely banquet with which they honored us.

We may be proud of the goal which we are about to reach, but this is only a step up the ladder to success, Class of '51. Let each of us endeavor to strive for ourselves, our class, and our Alma Mater.

TIME (1961)

The 1951 graduating class of Cherryville High School is having its annual reunion in Yankee Stadium in New York City. We are here seeing the 1961 world series between the New York Yankees and the St. Louis Cardinals.

Buddy Rudisill is coaching the Yankees this year and Don Sneed, the Cardinals. This should be an exciting game, but first let's see what all of our classmates of '51 are doing.

Joe Aderholt who has made a big success in real estate just came in with his secretary, Mozelle Poole. Joe tells us that he has received word from Admiral David Craig, who is stationed in Korea, saying that he can't be with us.

Look, everyone! Here comes our own Darrell Gates, and incidentally, folks, Darrell is the chief street sweeper for the city of Cherryville.

Rilma Harrelson has just entered the stadium. She is now teaching chemistry at Lenoir Rhyne College along with Joan Harrelson who is teaching music there.

What do we have here? Why it's Madamoiselle Mary Josie Flowers, a beautician in Hollywood, California, and Betty Jane Black who is married and has two adorable children. I believe Charles Black is with them. Yes, it is Charles and his secretary Mattie Harris. He is a famous lawyer and an orchestra leader in his spare time.

What is that noise we hear? It's some of our classmates, of course. Who is it? It's Betty Beam, a famous Powers model; Peggy Thornburg, who is now Mrs. Bill Garner; Bobbie Brown, Frances Scism, Shirley Mabe, and Tucker Blackwelder, who are all secretaries for Macy's in New York City. Their escorts for the evening are Wally Brooks, an aviator in the U. S. Air Force; Edward Noles, head meat cutter in Bill Lackey's famous Super Meat Market in Tampa, Florida; Ted Black, who is now designing men's clothing in Chicago; and Paul Moss and Murl Seagle, who are playing professional football.

We were just talking to Johnny McGinnis and he tells us that he is pharmacist and the owner of a drug store in Denver, Colorado. Betty Jean Black, a dress designer for Metro Goldwyn Meyer Studios, Joyce Crouse and George Parker of the Crouse-Parker Accounting Company, accompanied him on his trip to New York.

Mrs. O. C. Parker, the former Geraldine Sneed, just informed us that she will not be here today because her baby is ill.

I think that takes care of everyone. No, wait! Here comes Edwin Eaker and Tom Dellinger, two successful farmers. They stopped to see Jim Pope, a veternarian. Jim's assistant is Elaine Parker.

Last but not least are Jewell Huffstetler, an opera singer, and Hattie Cook, Wanda Beam and Barbara Franklin, who are F.B.I. agents for the United States Government.

And now for a few minutes before the game starts, we shall all want to listen to Billy Reynolds' band.

A letter of appreciation

It is with the deepest sense of gratitude that I acknowledge the assistance and cooperation of those who have so generously contributed time and effort in the publication of this CHENOCA.

Especially am I grateful to the members of the staff for their splendid cooperation they have given me in presenting this annual. Their faithfulness, their sacrifice and their assistance have made possible the completion of a responsible task.

To the members of the faculty who have been so helpful in advising and guiding our activities relative to the gathering and editing of the materials used, I am sincerely grateful.

To the students who have so cooperatively lent their efforts in providing the materials which have been used in this book, I am deeply appreciative.

To the business men and women, industrialists, the merchants, and the professional men, who by their loyal support and assistance have made this publication possible, I feel that I owe a great debt of gratitude. Those of us who have been responsible for this edition of the CHENOCA have been given the most favorable impression of those men and women who are engaged in the industrial, commercial, and professional activities of our community.

Through the coming years I shall cherish the fondest memories of my pleasant association with those who have so earnestly aided me in my duties as Editor-in-Chief of this year's annual; nor will the passing years lessen my sense of gratitude to all who have made the execution of my duties an experience of genuine pleasure.

Dear Mattie,

I can never express in mere words the pleasure I have had in being your classmate this last high school year.

You have been a wonderful friend and a fine senior. I'll never forget the good times we have had at lunch time.

Mattie, your pleasing personality will always win you many friends, I am sure. I admire you for being able to get along well with everybody. I've never seen you really mad at anybody.

I'm sure you're looking forward to school at A.S.T.C. just as much as I am at W.C. I know you'll get along fine in school and later when you take your nurses' training. You have the perseverance and common sense to make a fine nurse and whatever else you may want to be in life.

After we graduate, I'll always remember you as one of the best friends I've ever had. Let's not forget to write when we go to different colleges next fall.

I hope you will have many happy experiences and successes.

A true friend,
Joan Harrelson
